

I was for some reason unable to get the email expression to register correctly in my program. It worked correctly when I tested it at first, but in practice it rejected everything given to it for an unknown reason. The email works when I don't want it to at times but then doesn't work when I feel it should.

It seems for some reason I was unable to get the street to work. It seemed like it should have worked but I was unable to get it working properly.
